DRAMATURG'S NOTE

As a life-long theatre-lover, performing artist, and storyteller, I was thrilled to be invited to join the creative team of Turnover: A New Leaf as the show's dramaturg. When first diving into this story, I immediately knew it was special. Turnover brilliantly explores family dynamics, prejudice, and trauma through the lives of plants. In the show, we are planted into the complex lives of garden-dwelling characters who are each addressing their pasts and mending their relationships with each other, all while growing individually. Researching botanical terms, social trends, and the landscape that this story takes place in was an enriching experience. With every biological reference, environmental play on words, and each masterful lyric, I was further inspired by David's dynamic, virtuosic writing and Aliyah's vision and thoughtful construction of the story. I'm grateful to be a part of this piece of theater and excited for audiences to join Parsley, Pyrus, Rau, and Malus on their journey, and maybe learn a new thing or two about botany (I know I did!) - Bryson Lima

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

It is a true pleasure and therapeutic experience directing this work that David has crafted with such care. I did not have the courage that our teen characters possess here to stand for who they are. Anyone, no matter the age, race, or background, can find themselves in a plot in Turnover. The story and struggles of immigrants is profound and resilient. Adding voices from the queer community and stellar music on top of that has made such a needed piece. Myself, our creative team and cast have experienced many of the ebbs and flows our characters must fight through, and have worked with diligence to convey a respected and universal message. I wish for all to come together as these very different characters have managed to do to become a brighter garden. - Aliyah Curry

NEW MUSICALS FESTIVAL DEVELOPMENTAL PROCESS

(September 2023 — March 17, 2024)

September 21: Application

Theatre on the Verge posted a call for musicals on their Facebook page @TheatreontheVerge. David initially submitted his space family drama, Ellipses.

October 12: Meeting with Amanda Gulla

David decided to switch his priorities to his plant-based family drama, Turnover.

November 10: Acceptance

"Hello David, We at Theatre on the Verge would like to formally offer your musical "Turnover: a New Leaf" a spot in our 2024 New Musicals Festival. Should you accept, your show would be scheduled for a 90 minute time slot on one day of the festival in person at the Abington Art Center."

November 15: Aliyah and David are Director-Writer Partners Again

Aliyah Curry and David were respectively the scholar and apprentice in 2020 and 2021 of Working Title Playwrights, Atlanta. Aliyah directed the concert reading of David's apprenticeship project Ellipses. Aliyah and David moved to New York City soon after. They were the featured artists on Undiscovered Countries's show in September 2023, where Aliyah featured her play What's a Berry (featuring Raven Jeannette) and David featured an excerpt of Turnover (featuring Maria Noriko Cabral, Tuânminh Albert Đỗ, Xiaoxiao Sun, and Erick Carter).

November 15 – December 2: Assembling the Team

Amanda connected the team to stage manager Maya Nguyen-Haberneski and music director Matthew Melchior, Lantern Theatre Company apprentices in Philadelphia.

Aliyah brought in Bryson Lima as the dramaturg. Bryson and Aliyah worked together respectively as director-writer and stage manager on Bryson's play Superdollar at New York Theatre Festival.

October 5 – January 14: Casting

TOTV posted audition notices on social media and Google Form. TOTV received over a hundred applicants. The creative team had three meetings centered on this.

November 5 – March 17: Dramaturgy Meetups with Bryson Lima

The book stayed consistently at 54 pages with Bryson Lima's dramaturgical feedback. It took three online sessions.

Bryson performed heavy research on 2010s culture, characterization, and societal themes. He created audience questions for feedback and helped draft up a botanical reference guide for the musical.

December – February: Songwriting

In December, David completed the songs "Photosynthesis" and "Dirt on You." In January to February for his musical The Seasoned Veteran, David wrote Zima's song "Head in the Clouds" which is now integrated into Turnover as "Fig Leaf."

From rehearsal notes and musician's feedback, David reorchestrated several songs to help the performers sing and musicians play with ease.

On February 24, Michael Radi hosted a workshop for Theatre on the Verge participants where David presented "A Natural" and "Amount to Anything."

February 19 – March 4: Assembling the Orchestra

Following a Queer Big Apple Corps Symphony's 2/19 rehearsal, trombonist David got in touch with French horn player Joshua Erickson. Joshua had expressed interest in being a pianist for David's musicals since QBAC's 2023 holiday concert.

On February 21, Amanda reached out with an interest from the Philly-based guitarist-bassist Mark Rascati. On March 4, Mark Rascati connected the team to another guitarist, Frank L. Turner Jr.

January 20 – March 16: Rehearsals

Saturday, January 20 at 8-10:30PM on Discord, Studio D

Saturday, February 3 at 10AM-1PM on Discord, Studio D

Sunday, February 11 at 9AM-12PM on Discord, Studio D

Thursday, February 29 at 3-6PM in David Quang Pham's Washington Height

Saturday, March 9 at 4-6PM on Discord, Studio D

Friday, March 15 at 4-8PM at Abington Art Center

Saturday, March 16 at 4-8PM at Abington Art Center

The Angels Have Always Been Black

by Aliyah Curry @_aliyaah_

The Angels Have Always Been Black is a metamorphosis of Black girlhood, queer sexuality, God, and family. Through a mix of traditional forms, as well as her own style of verse, the angels will take you up, then down, then up again, weaving hope through all the memories, beloved and triggering, before resting once again on the shelves of Mommy's freshly dusted mahogany shrunk.

This narrative is matured into Black womanhood on these wings, journeying home, earth, riverlands, and sky. Granny braids your hair, a new lover breaks your heart, and Black women prevail.
